Building on a legacy of transformational technologies, Zimmer Spine is a growing force in the marketplace, recognized for advancing spine surgery through innovative product solutions and unmatched clinical support. Since January, Zimmer Spine has launched 12 new products including the award-winning Virage® OCT Spinal Fixation System, a posterior system intended for the Occipital-Cervical-Thoracic spine (Occiput-T3), and the Optio-C® Anterior Cervical System, a next generation modular stand-alone cervical device. Other recently launched products include six new biologics lines, the TriCor™ Sacroiliac Joint Fusion System, the Ancora™ Lateral Interbody System, the UniLink™ and UniLink 5/1 Interspinous Fusion System, the Zimmer® Facet Screw System and the Zimmer® Anterior Buttress Plate System.

As documented in Zimmer's conference call on October 23, Zimmer Spine demonstrated 6 percent growth in Q3 2014. "These Q3 results reflect the new product launches driving progress in our competitive offerings," said Steve Healy, President of Zimmer Spine. "We have executed a dozen product launches this year, which are a combination of internal development and external licensing and distribution programs. Over the next 12 to 24 months, we will continue to launch products we believe will advance spine surgery and provide surgeons with solutions for each patient's unique and ongoing needs."
